Understanding and Delivering Peacemaking, Unbundled, Collaborative and Preventative Professional Services

This first-ever Peace Institute is an intensive, interdisciplinary, three-day Institute for attorneys, mental health and financial professionals.

- Learn concepts, values and perspectives of peacemaking, collaborative law, limited scope representation and preventative legal services;
- Discuss the implications for confidentiality and preventive family professional services, and survey developments in conflict resolution and interdisciplinary teamwork;
- Practice skills involved in these basic concepts;
- Explore alternative role models and possible career opportunities in peacemaking, conflict resolution and interdisciplinary teamwork.

The Peace Institute will be led by Forrest “Woody” S. Mosten, a nationally renowned authority in dispute resolution. David A. Hoffman, author, educator and practitioner, will deliver the keynote address at the Friday night Peacemakers’ Dinner. Ample opportunities for networking with other peacemakers are planned.

Forrest “Woody” S. Mosten
Institute Leader

CLE/CPA/CE Credits

The Peace Institute will provide a total of 22 CLE credits (including 3 ethics credits), 26 CPA credits or 22 CE credits. To earn the credits, attendance at all seminar sessions is mandatory, and constructive participation in seminar discussion and exercises is expected. Proactive participation is a cornerstone of this course.

SCHEDULE

Thursday, May 3

8:00 a.m. – 9:00 a.m.

Registration & Continental Breakfast

9:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

Peacemaking and Management of Dispute Resolution, Part 1

CLE credits: 3 substantive and .5 ethics

Forrest “Woody” S. Mosten

This module introduces the central concepts and themes for the Institute. The focus will be on the roles for attorneys, mental health professionals and financial neutrals and ethical issues regarding peacemaking. It will also explore establishing a peacemaking signature (core values, attributes, type and style of services offered to the public and demographics of clients served) and designing your career as a peacemaker and manager of dispute resolution. Attendees will compare the impact of peacemaking from the neutral roles as mediator and evaluator, as well as consulting with and rendering service to individual clients. Attendees will learn the use and elements of apology and forgiveness and how to teach clients to offer apologies in family matters and handle refusal of the other party to accept an apology.

12:30 p.m. – 1:30 p.m. Networking Lunch

1:30 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Peacemaking and Management of Dispute Resolution, Part 2

Unbundled Service Delivery, Part 1

CLE credits: 2.5 substantive and 1 ethics

Forrest “Woody” S. Mosten

The focus of this module will be on the concept of unbundled professional services with a consumer-oriented approach. We will discuss coaching clients in discrete tasks and being a shadow professional to improve knowledge and ability of people in conflict to meet their objectives. We will also review the skills of communication and negotiation, letter/document drafting, coaching clients in negotiation and serving as a consulting professional in mediation. Ethical issues of ghostwriting, disclosures to the court and contacts with opposing counsel will be discussed.

12:30 p.m. – 1:30 p.m. Networking Lunch

1:30 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
